Amazing Albert Hall Experience

Some of our children and staff have been fortunate enough to take part in a county music project over the last few weeks, which culminated in an amazing world's first performance of a piece of music entitled Nene, at the Albert Hall in London. 700 young people took part in this performance as part of the Music for Youth School Proms. This was an inspirational day and one that they will remember forever.

A recording of this performance can be found on the Northamptonshire Music and Performing Arts Trust (NMPAT) Facebook site.
